

I have been going to Dr. Drucker for almost 10 years now. I grew up in a time when pain management did not apply to dentistry and like many others, developed a strong apprehension for dentists.

Since then, I have had cavities filled, have had a wisdom tooth pulled, more crowns fitted than I care to think about, and of course, numerous cleansings. Through it, he has been meticulous in quality of care and in putting me at ease. I have been offered music, I-pods, and even a film to watch to focus my attention elsewhere. There has never been a time when he has drilled when I have not been ready, nor has he ever kept going when I needed a break. I have been called at home after getting a tooth pulled to make certain I was OK as well as always getting call backs from the office to schedule appointments.

He now sees my husband, my sister, and my kids. I have recommended him to a number of friends as well. I would not hesitate to recommend him.
